I'm using the following code to search a list of strings for a string... oListView.SelectedItem = listViewSelection.SelectedItem[0] as string; If the search matches a string which contains a single line of text, it prints the entire line of text onto the listview. I'd like to be able to add a line break () into the listview after the first line of text. How would I be able to add a line break to the first line of text in the string? The only relevant post I've found is this one: How to add a new line after a certain string in a C# string? The answer
